Allowable Subject Matter

1. Claims 1-39 are allowed.

2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: with respect to the claims, in addition to other limitations in the claims, the prior art of record fails to teach or disclose the applicant's invention as claimed, particularly the features

-first and second semiconductors having different power supply voltage and a reference voltage generating circuit for generating reference voltages which serve as a threshold value for determining the voltage of the single-ended signal and supplying the reference voltages to the first and the second semiconductor.

-a first bridge terminating circuit having a resistance value in conformity with twice the ODD mode characteristic impedance and disposed on a signal reception end of the first semiconductor integrated circuit device; and a second bridge terminating circuit having a resistance value in conformity with twice the ODD mode characteristic impedance and disposed on a signal reception end of the second semiconductor integrated circuit device.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Conclusion

3. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Huang et al (6,838,900) a transceiver bi-directional bus system comprising driver circuit, receiving circuit with reference voltage and termination circuit, but the power supply voltage between two semiconductor are the same and no reference generating circuit which serve as a threshold value and supply to the first and the second semiconductor.
